DxPx Info

DxPx has an exclusive focus on diagnostics, digital health, precision medicine & life science tools as these industries frequently share technologies and are typically underrepresented at partnering conferences, - where the majority of investors focus on therapeutics and biotech - leaving founders and entrepreneurs in the DxPx space feeling like "ugly ducklings". The first DxPx conference was launched in 2018 to offer a dedicated networking & business development platform for these founders, their companies, and investors who love these ugly ducklings.

Celebrating its 5th year, DxPx is rolling out a new look, new event formats, new sponsorship opportunities, and an enhanced event experience that will build upon our commitment to transforming the next decade of our industry. We bring together c-level executives, decision-makers, and innovators to address today's most pressing challenges and help solve tomorrow's greatest opportunities.

What to expect:

DxPx is all about partnering with your peers from the diagnostics, digital health, precision medicine, and life science tools industry to get innovations to the market and evolve existing technologies. To do so, we built an engaging, interesting, motivating, and inspiring environment for our participants.

We provide startups & growth-companies with the time and space to show off their technologies either at their Startup City Booth or via pre-scheduled one-on-one meetings. Everyone should be able to find their next partnership on our digital, AI-based partnering platform. To achieve even more, we hand over the stage to our speakers to share their industry insights and to the startups pitching at the 42PLUS1 pitch award.

That's the DxPx experience.

Frequently used words and phrases
